David McGowan has recently posted the first 3 of 5 parts in a series about flight 93. For those of you who are not familiar with Mr. McGowan's work, I believe he has offered some of the best analysis of the attacks of 9/11 available. The new Flight 93 analysis is Act 4 of his series "September 11th Revisited", which I can not recommend highly enough.

There is quite alot of material there. Can you break it down and direct folks to the most pertinent areas.

Thanks,

Yeah, I've been reading McGowan for quite a while. He got me out of the peak-oil mind set.

QUOTE

Another mover and shaker, David Ray Griffin, is the author of the book, The New Pearl Harbor, beloved by many in the 911 Truth Movement as providing a definitive 911 skeptics account, even discussing various physical evidence claims pointing to 9-11 being an inside job. Writing his book's forward is Richard Falk. They're often a team, David Ray and Richard, both one world government aficionados (and I don't know about you, but I do admit to finding one world gov't advocates creepy) who work on the same projects and write for the same publications advocating a world government solution. Richard Falk, in fact, is a member of the CFR, the Council on Foreign Relations. He's worked on new world order projects for the CFR, like the World Order Models Project financed by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace and the Rockefeller Foundation. What the hell is one to make of a CFR member wanting to expose 9-11? Another frequent writing/project partner of Griffin is John Cobb, former senior economist for the World Bank...

McGowan's site was one of the first I stumbled upon when I first started looking at 9/11. In his latest installment on Flight 93 he asserts many of the phone calls were real and made on the seat-back airphones which he says were originally reported as airphones, not cell phones. He does, however, think the Todd Beamer call was fake.

Sanders, I would be interested in the source of your quote concerning the NWO/CFR background of Griffin, Falk, and Cobb. Were you quoting from Dave McGowan's articles on Flight 93 which is the subject of this thread?

What McGowan does better than anybody else IMHO is coherently tie together all of the events. Flight of planes, military response, actions of high government officials, terror drills and exercises, fall of buildings, pentagon damage, passenger phone calls and actions, Flight 93 crash - its all there on one comprehensive narrative.

As a bonus, he reviews and critiques of most of the alternative theories.

If memory serves me correctly, didn't he also link the Washington sniper and the death of a whistleblower?
