Most of my clients are much more at home with the core competencies of their business than with computers.

If you need help learning to use real browsers and email software, I am happy to help.
Weaning people off dependence on AOL is one of my favorite services to humanity!

On my initial visit, I will certainly offer to check out your computer for viruses, trojans and spyware, and offer advice on computer security.
I recommend that every computer have it's own copy of Zone Alarm personal firewall, to control both incoming and outgoing access to your computer.
